Dresden, June 17, N. S.

LETTERS from Poland of the 1st Instant mention, that the Russians were still within their own Territories. That the Plague was broke out in two or three Villages near Cracow, by the Arrival of some Deserters from Hungary, where it is said to spread with great Violence. The 14th Instant a Courier arrived with the Notification of the Death of the Duke of Barbi, by which an Appenage of about Three Thousand Pounds Sterling a Year reverts to the reigning Duke of Weissenfels, the Chief of that Branch of the House of Saxony.

Hambourg, June 23, N. S. Duke Charles Frederick of Holstein Gottorp died the 18th Instant at Three a-Clock in the Morning, after a long and painful Sickness, at Rollshagen, a Country House belonging to one of his Servants, about 20 English Miles distant from this City. The deceased Duke has left one Prince, who being a Minor, the Guardianship and Administration of the Dutchy of Holstein falls to the Duke of Holstein-Eutin, Bishop of Lubeck. The same Day, the 18th, at Four a-Clock in the Afternon, that Bishop arrived at Kiel, and alighted at the House of his Highness's Brother Prince Augustus; where having summoned three ancient Members of the late Duke's Privy Council to attend him, his Highness, by the Advice of his Privy Council, took immediately Possession of the Castle of Kiel; and having order'd his Seal to be put to the Bureaux which were in the late Duke's Apartment, he afterwards commanded the Garrison, consisting of one Battallion, and some of the Guards, to attend in the Castle Yard; where the Oath of Fidelity was administred to them, which they took accordingly to the young Duke Charles Peter Ulrich, and to the said Bishop Adolph Frederick, as the present Duke Administrator. On the 19th his Highness the Duke Administrator caused a Proclamation to be published, setting forth, that whereas by the unexpected Demise of the late Duke, the Guardianship of the young Duke, and the Administration of his Country during his Minority, was devolved to him, as to the next of Kin, according to the Laws of the Empire and the established Custom in that Ducal House; his Highness had actually taken the Government into his Hands. His Highness therefore order'd all the Inhabitants and Subjects that are under his Jurisdiction, to make their Applications to his Highness, and to the Council he had established, and expect to be graciously heard, and to receive Redress in their respective Cases. On the 20th the Duke Administrator order'd another Proclamation to be published, containing proper Regulations for the Mourning; and they are at present preparing at Kiel the several Letters of Notification on this Occasion.

Lottery Office, June 15, 1739.
